1.	“short description of your understanding of the role of the Consultant and the approach to be used as outlined in these Terms of Reference”. Would it be possible for you to clarify and provide more information about what you are looking for in this section?	It would be useful to hear a paragraph or two on what you expect the assignment to entail. Although the assessment criteria will not examine this directly, it’s useful context.
2.	"FSD Africa is looking to hire a Consultant with excellent research, analysis, strategic thinking and project management skills to support and lead initiatives within its Strategy and Advocacy department." However, under Invitation to Submit Proposal the following is stated <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - CVs (maximum 3 sides of A4 paper each) of key individuals, tailored to the assignment - Outline of team structure, including roles and responsibilities of team members. These points imply that a team of consultants is required which is in contradiction to para 1 of the TOR as stated above. Please can you clarify ASAP as I aim to apply if the position if for one consultant	We confirm that a team approach is not necessary for this assignment. A proposal from a single consultant works well.
3.	Is this open to only individual consultants or are we able to apply as a company putting forward one of our associate consultants?	Applications that include two or more consultants will be considered.
4.	Are you preferably looking for an individual or a team of consultants?	We confirm that a team approach is not necessary for this assignment. A proposal from a single consultant works well.
